

The concept of De schooling

1. More public money is spend on the rich than on the poor.
2. The solution is the setting up of a DE, schooled society , Compulsory
3. education , school and teacher must be abolished , and the command
4. of the educational resources must be put in the hands of the learners
5. who learn what they want , how they want it , and at what age they want it.
6. This would be achieved by the provision of various net works , which
7. involves such ideas ass direct access to resources for learning such as museums and libraries , and the establishment of skill exchange.
8. Occupational selection would be based only on ability to do the job.

- We can say that it was popularized by which by Ivan Illich in his 1971 Book De schooling Society.
- This is based on the belief that most people learn better by themselves out side of an institutional environment.
- De schooling is when the child is allowed to direct himself . There is no curriculum , no set subjects , nothing structured.
- The child learn on his own as he wants to ,about what he wants to learn.
- The main benefits of the de , schooling is that , we go through the process of learning how to educate our children with in the context of our family and the natural world rather than using strategies best designed for group instruction in school stings.

- By De schooling Ivan Illich did not mean taking schooling in to the home nor did he mean FREE SCHOOL , In which a curricula was set by the students.
- Every community and every human has its own natural concept of vernacular.
- IN this process the person can learn some thing by his own capability.
- Ivan Illich said , the it is important to note that schooling does not imply the transference of knowledge or skill.
- only the student physical presence is required for the process of occur. Education on the other hand is not a process but an achievement.
- Individual can acquire skill and knowledge that qualify as education in a wide variety of ways.
- De schooling is about replacing school with in natural learning . De schooling is needed much more by parents than by children. Usually it is more difficult process. It can take time , weeks , months , and even years for children to re discover natural curiosity.

IVAN ILLICH.

- 1 . By de schooling Ivan Illich did not mean taking schooling in to the home nor did he mean Free school. In which a curricula was set by the students . Schooling of any kind that limited a person capacity and desire to self learn was detrimental to the living a full life by that person.
- 2 . Every community and every human has its own natural concept of the Vernacular . It is wrapped up in being a human. It is what a person can do themselves in the place , it is with out dependence of external assistance.
- 3 . In this process the person can learn some thing by his own capability.
- 4 . Illich said that it is important to note that schooling does not imply the transference of knowledge or skill , only the student physical presence is required for the process to occur.

CONCLUSION

- You need to really think about your own school experiences. For example ????
- 1 .Did you remember every thing you were thought ?
- 2 . Did you learn better when you were interested in the subject ?
- 3 . Did the structure of school interfere with your learning ?
- 4 . And think about learning in general and what is the real purpose of learning things ?
- 5 . How do you best like to learn ?
- So 1 . De schooling is needed much more by parents then by children. Usually it is more difficult process . It can take time , weeks , months , some times even years , for children to re discover natural curiosity to adopt.

THE END